Special Issue

Advances in Organic Solid Waste Management and Wastewater Pollution and Prevention

Message from the Guest Editor

The following include some topics that can be addressed in this Special Issue: Organic Solid Waste Management:

- Agro-industrial and industrial solid waste management and revalorization;
- Urban solid waste management and public health;
- Biorefineries using organic waste;
- Biotransformation of solid organic waste;
- Compost;
- Bioenergy production;
- Fertilizers:
- Anaerobic digestion.

Wastewater pollution and prevention:

- Anaerobic digestion;
- Wetlands and constructed wetlands:
- Eco-friendly green technologies for wastewater;
- High-rate reactors;
- Nutrient removal;
- Industrial effluents:
- Pharmaceuticals residues and recalcitrant compounds in wastewater;
- Impact of water pollution on receiving water bodies;
- Public health implications of wastewater quality.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Addressing the environmental and public health challenges requires engagement and collaboration among clinicians and public health researchers.

Scientific discoveries and advances in this research field play a critical role in providing a rational basis for informed decision-making toward control and prevention of human diseases, especially the illnesses that are induced from environmental exposure to health hazards.

IJERPH provides a forum for discussion of discoveries and knowledge in these multidisciplinary fields. Please consider publishing your research in this high quality peer-reviewed journal.
