

Special Issue

Sustainable Prosperity without Growth, or Damage to Nature

Message from the Guest Editor

In this Special Issue, we aim to cover engineering analyses and methods, in addition to socio-economic strategies that aim to remedy damage inflicted on the natural world. The Special Issue seeks to collect the top theoretical and empirical studies on sustainable prosperity without growth or damage to nature, in the fields of engineering, natural sciences, economics, and social sciences.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Addressing the environmental and public health challenges requires engagement and collaboration among clinicians and public health researchers. Scientific discoveries and advances in this research field play a critical role in providing a rational basis for informed decision-making toward control and prevention of human diseases, especially the illnesses that are induced from environmental exposure to health hazards.

IJERPH provides a forum for discussion of discoveries and knowledge in these multidisciplinary fields. Please consider publishing your research in this high quality peer-reviewed journal.
