

Special Issue

Ecotoxicology and Health Risks of Emerging Organic Pollutants

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue of International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health aims to feature original full-length research articles and reviews on this topic from a multidisciplinary point of view. Potential topics for this collection include, but are not limited to:

- Occurrence, fate, transport, and measurement techniques of EOPs;
- Bioavailability and biotransformation of EOPs;
- Toxic effects of EOPs and their metabolites;
- Computational chemistry and quantitative structure–activity relationship studies for the toxicity of EOPs;
- Environmental risk assessments of EOPs;
- Studies involving the treatment and removal of EOPs.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Addressing the environmental and public health challenges requires engagement and collaboration among clinicians and public health researchers. Scientific discoveries and advances in this research field play a critical role in providing a rational basis for informed decision-making toward control and prevention of human diseases, especially the illnesses that are induced from environmental exposure to health hazards.

IJERPH provides a forum for discussion of discoveries and knowledge in these multidisciplinary fields. Please consider publishing your research in this high quality peer-reviewed journal.
