

Special Issue

Social Support, Social Networks, Community Integration, and Recovery for People with Serious Mental Illness or Substance Use Disorders

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue will be dedicated to publishing research, editorial opinions, and service descriptions aiming to advance strategies, services, methodology, and interventions supporting people with SMI or SUDs in becoming meaningful and fully integrated community members. By prioritizing community integration, we can help these individuals lead fulfilling lives within the communities that they aspire to be part of.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Addressing the environmental and public health challenges requires engagement and collaboration among clinicians and public health researchers. Scientific discoveries and advances in this research field play a critical role in providing a rational basis for informed decision-making toward control and prevention of human diseases, especially the illnesses that are induced from environmental exposure to health hazards.

IJERPH provides a forum for discussion of discoveries and knowledge in these multidisciplinary fields. Please consider publishing your research in this high quality peer-reviewed journal.
