

Special Issue

Second Edition of International Perspectives on Mental Health Social Work

Message from the Guest Editors

This is the second Special Issue that we will be editing, following the success of the first: International Perspectives on Mental Health and Mental Health Social Work (Campbell, J., Brophy, L., & Davidson, G. (2022). International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health, 19(12), 7387; <https://www.mdpi.com/1660-4601/19/12/7387/htm>.) We wish to build upon the first Special Issue by focusing particularly on the mental health social work role, social work policies and social work education in local, national and international contexts.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Addressing the environmental and public health challenges requires engagement and collaboration among clinicians and public health researchers. Scientific discoveries and advances in this research field play a critical role in providing a rational basis for informed decision-making toward control and prevention of human diseases, especially the illnesses that are induced from environmental exposure to health hazards.

IJERPH provides a forum for discussion of discoveries and knowledge in these multidisciplinary fields. Please consider publishing your research in this high quality peer-reviewed journal.
