

Special Issue

Mental Health Screening in Schools: Current Methods, Perspectives, and Challenges

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue of the International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health invites submissions of original research, reviews, and critical perspectives on school-based mental health screening. Topics may include tool development and validation, implementation studies, digital innovations, equity and access, ethical considerations, and student or educator perspectives. Contributions from public health, psychology, education, and related disciplines are welcome. We particularly encourage submissions that combine strong methodological rigour with practical relevance for improving student mental health outcomes.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Addressing the environmental and public health challenges requires engagement and collaboration among clinicians and public health researchers. Scientific discoveries and advances in this research field play a critical role in providing a rational basis for informed decision-making toward control and prevention of human diseases, especially the illnesses that are induced from environmental exposure to health hazards.

IJERPH provides a forum for discussion of discoveries and knowledge in these multidisciplinary fields. Please consider publishing your research in this high quality peer-reviewed journal.
