

Special Issue

Life Satisfaction and Psychological and Physical Well-Being

Message from the Guest Editors

Life satisfaction is a popular topic of study worldwide. Because of the significance of the topic, IJERPH is planning a Special Issue to showcase research from several countries on life satisfaction and its relationships with psychological and physical well-being. Articles can be theoretical/conceptual, review-based, empirical (correlational/experimental), or application-based. There are no restrictions as to the nature of the populations studied (e.g., children, adolescents, adults, or elderly) or on the aspect of life satisfaction studied. I would like to invite you to share your work for this Special Issue. Please also note that all submissions are peer-reviewed.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Addressing the environmental and public health challenges requires engagement and collaboration among clinicians and public health researchers. Scientific discoveries and advances in this research field play a critical role in providing a rational basis for informed decision-making toward control and prevention of human diseases, especially the illnesses that are induced from environmental exposure to health hazards.

IJERPH provides a forum for discussion of discoveries and knowledge in these multidisciplinary fields. Please consider publishing your research in this high quality peer-reviewed journal.
