

Special Issue

Basics of Hygiene in Public Health and Health Promotion

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue seeks research papers on various aspects related to the emerging field of evidence-based public health, covering different aspects of the basics of hygiene in public health and health promotion, that is, from evidence generation and evidence synthesis to evidence communication and policy recommendation. In particular, we encourage the submission of interdisciplinary work and multicountry collaborative research. We welcome submissions of original research papers using different study designs, critical and relevant reviews, including as systematic reviews and meta-analysis, methodological papers, and manuscripts that emphasize theoretical content. We welcome original research papers using different study designs as well as systematic reviews and meta-analysis.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Addressing the environmental and public health challenges requires engagement and collaboration among clinicians and public health researchers. Scientific discoveries and advances in this research field play a critical role in providing a rational basis for informed decision-making toward control and prevention of human diseases, especially the illnesses that are induced from environmental exposure to health hazards.

IJERPH provides a forum for discussion of discoveries and knowledge in these multidisciplinary fields. Please consider publishing your research in this high quality peer-reviewed journal.
