Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

In recent years, there has been increasing interest in marine pollution, owing to the presence and effects of several microplastics. One of the possible solutions to this problem is focused on the application of biodegradable plastics. The biodegradation of plastics in seawater or marine environments would be a very important development. With the opening of this Special Issue, “Biodegradable Plastics in Marine Environment”, we are planning to produce a strong and very exciting issue that will encompass breakthroughs on highly valuable scientific and industrial research in this field.
