Message from the Guest Editor

Next year, in 2019, we will celebrate the 25th anniversary of the discovery of leptin, the first member of the novel, recognized superfamily of molecules, collectively named adipokines. A quarter of a century, characterized by a plethora of studies that have led to the appreciation of the remarkable potency, range of biological effects and pleiotropism of leptin, as well as of many other adipokines. Leptin research in the last 25 years has significantly increased our understanding of the cellular and molecular mechanisms linking obesity and adipose tissue dysfunction to metabolic/immune/inflammatory disorders, a picture that is still incomplete. Research on leptin and relatives has permeated almost all biomedical disciplines, from endocrinology to rheumatology, just to simply cite a few. We invite authors to present original research articles, as well as review articles, that will stimulate the continue efforts in defining the molecular and cellular mechanisms of leptin and other adipokines in pathophysiology and clinics.

Message from the Editorial Board

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High visibility: indexed by the Science Citation Index Expanded (Web of Science), MEDLINE (PubMed), Scopus and other databases.

Rapid publication: manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision provided to authors approximately 15.7 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.9 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2019).
