State-of-the-Art Molecular Pharmacology in Spain 2.0

Message from the Guest Editors

Authors are invited to submit original research and review articles on molecular pharmacology to this Special Issue. The "Molecular Pharmacology" section aims to publish the latest developments in cellular and molecular pharmacology, with a major emphasis on the mechanism of action of novel drugs, innovative pharmacological technologies, cell signaling, transduction pathway analysis, genomics, proteomics and metabolomics applications in drug action. An additional focus will be the way in which normal biological function is illuminated by knowledge of the action of drugs at the cellular and molecular level. A large number of research teams in Spain from different institutions and universities are currently working together and devoting considerable efforts to developing and studying molecular pharmacology. This Special Issue is committed to providing an overview of the macromolecular sciences and technologies in Spain.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, and molecular biophysics. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.
