

Special Issue

Research on Synthesis and Application of Polymer Materials

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue delves into the cutting-edge advancements and insights in the realm of polymer materials, exploring their synthesis, properties, and diverse applications across various fields. The contributions within this Special Issue encompass a wide spectrum of topics, ranging from novel synthesis techniques and structural characterization to innovative applications in fields such as medicine, environment, electronics, packaging, and beyond. As we delve into the multidisciplinary nature of polymer science, this Special Issue serves as a platform to showcase the collaborative efforts of researchers and practitioners, shedding light on the pivotal role that polymer materials play in shaping our modern world. Join us on a journey through the fascinating landscape of polymer research and its ever-expanding influence on technology and innovation.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry and Molecular Biology) / CiteScore
- Q1 (Organic Chemistry)
