Recent Advances in Medicinal Plants and Natural Products

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue, entitled “Recent Advances in Medicinal Plants and Natural Products”, aims to explore the latest research and innovations in the field of natural medicine. By highlighting groundbreaking studies and discoveries, we aim to showcase the therapeutic potential of medicinal plants and natural compounds. This Special Issue will cover a wide range of topics, including the identification of novel bioactive substances, advancements in extraction and analysis techniques, and the development of plant-based treatments for various diseases. Contributions from leading experts will provide insights into the molecular mechanisms underlying the medicinal properties of natural products, fostering a deeper understanding of their role in modern healthcare and promoting wellbeing. This Special Issue also aims to serve as an invaluable resource for researchers, practitioners, and policymakers dedicated to the advancement of natural medicine and its integration into contemporary medical practices. Systematic reviews and meta-analyses that assess the recent advances in medicinal plants and natural products are also welcome to be submitted.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, and molecular biophysics. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.
