

Special Issue

Bee Products: The Recent Progress in Health Benefits Studies

Message from the Guest Editors

In this Special Issue of International Journal of Molecular Sciences, we invite authors to submit manuscripts related to these topics. We welcome submissions of original research articles, reviews of the current scientific literature (including systematic reviews and meta-analyses), and short reports. This Special Issue, "Bee Products: The Recent Progress in Health Benefits Studies", aims to highlight the latest advances in the pre-clinical and clinical applications of nutraceutical and pharmaceutical properties of bee products and their flavonoids. We encourage contributions focusing on novel nanoformulations that enhance the efficiency, safety, quality and therapeutic potential of bee products and their flavonoids in promoting health and preventing disease.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.
