25th Anniversary of IJMS: Updates and Advances in Molecular Informatics

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue commemorates the 25th anniversary of the International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS), celebrating a quarter-century of pioneering research in the molecular sciences. We invite submissions that reflect on major advances in molecular informatics over this period and highlight emerging directions for the field. As molecular data continues to grow exponentially, molecular informatics plays a critical role in decoding complex biological and chemical systems, accelerating discovery, and fostering innovation. This Special Issue aims to provide a comprehensive overview of current methodologies, applications, and theoretical developments. We encourage contributions that demonstrate the impact of molecular informatics across a wide range of areas, including drug discovery, materials science, systems biology, and the integration of artificial intelligence in molecular research. Join us in celebrating this milestone by sharing your innovative work and shaping the future of molecular informatics.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, and molecular biophysics. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry and Molecular Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (Organic Chemistry)
