Atrial Fibrillation: From Epigenetics to Inflammatory Profile

Message from the Guest Editor

In recent years, the multifaceted nature of atrial fibrillation (AF) has emerged as a prominent focus of cardiovascular research. This Special Issue (SI) aims to provide a comprehensive platform that delves into the intricate relationships between epigenetic modifications and the inflammatory profiles associated with AF. We welcome contributions that shed light on the molecular mechanisms, potential therapeutic targets, and novel diagnostic markers. By unifying insights from basic research and clinical observations, we aspire to foster a deeper understanding of the pathogenesis and progression of AF, paving the way for innovative therapeutic strategies.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, and molecular biophysics. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry and Molecular Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (Organic Chemistry)
