Molecular Mechanisms of Angiogenesis and Cancer

Message from the Guest Editor

The aim of this special issue entitled “Molecular Mechanism of Angiogenesis and Cancer” will be the blend of translational science and basic science emphasizing on the molecular basis of tumor angiogenesis and molecular signaling network required for anti-angiogenic therapy. Great contemplations will be given to the original research articles of identifying novel molecular mechanisms, studies showing new molecular targets and their signaling during angiogenesis, and identification of new targetable therapeutic agents and their molecular mechanisms on improving prognosis. The review of literature highlighting the current knowledge of angiogenesis and cancer are also welcome.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.
