

Special Issue

Apolipoproteins in Health and Disease

Message from the Guest Editors

We are pleased to support and edit a new Special Issue for the International Journal of Molecular Sciences, entitled “Apolipoproteins in Health and Disease”. Although apolipoproteins were originally recognized as major determinants in lipoprotein metabolism and cardiovascular disease, the multiple apolipoprotein classes and subclasses have emerged as relevant participants in multiple biological processes and pathophysiological pathways involved in diabetes, cancer, obesity, neurodegenerative disorders, and inflammatory and infectious diseases. This Special Issue aims to publish timely and informative findings on molecular aspects of apolipoproteins (including isoforms and posttranslational modifications) and their influence on health and disease risk. Manuscripts of original research and reviews will be welcome.

Keywords: apolipoproteins; Alzheimer's disease; atherosclerosis; cancer; cholesterol; diabetes; inflammation; obesity; lipid metabolism; lipoproteins

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry and Molecular Biology) / CiteScore
- Q1 (Organic Chemistry)
