Molecular Advances in Veterinary Science

Message from the Guest Editor

We are pleased to announce a call for submissions to our Special Issue on “Molecular Advances in Veterinary Science”. This issue seeks to capture the latest innovations and research across the broad landscape of veterinary science, with a particular interest in studies that leverage molecular techniques to advance knowledge and improve practices in animal health and diagnostics. We encourage submissions from, but not limited to, the following areas: 1. Forensic Applications in Veterinary Science 2. Veterinary Molecular Diagnostics 3. DNA Analysis in Veterinary Forensics 4. Antimicrobial Resistance and Animal Health 5. Molecular Pathology and Toxicology 6. Molecular Epidemiology and Zoonotic Disease Control 7. Advancements in Veterinary Genomics and Proteomics 8. Veterinary Forensic Autopsy

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, and molecular biophysics. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.
