Molecular Perspective in Autoimmune Diseases

Message from the Guest Editors

We invite submissions that explore a range of topics, including the following:

- Genetic variation: Detailed studies of SNPs, CNVs, and mutations associated with autoimmune and autoinflammatory diseases;
- Interferon pathway in several diseases such as systemic lupus erythematosus, systemic sclerosis, Sjögren syndrome, and other inflammatory diseases;
- Functional Mechanisms: Investigating the molecular pathways and mechanisms involved in autoimmune pathogenesis;
- Role of cytokines and their link with more uncommon systemic and hyperinflammatory states like hemophagocytic lymphohistiocytosis, idiopathic multicentric Castleman's disease, catastrophic antiphospholipid syndrome, etc.;
- Novel developments in inflammatory diseases and other human inborn errors of immunity.

Both original research articles and reviews are welcome if they provide a comprehensive perspective on these molecular findings and their implications for advancing the diagnosis and treatment of autoimmune diseases. We look forward to receiving your valuable submissions.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, and molecular biophysics. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.
