Revolutionizing Antifungal Therapeutics: From Understanding to Intervention

Message from the Guest Editor

Fungal infections are a worldwide threat, carrying not only high morbidity and mortality rates but also high healthcare costs. It has been anticipated that 10 million people die per year from infections related to multidrug-resistant pathogens, of which several include fungal species. A high percentage of the mortalities caused by fungi are known to be biofilm-related. This Special Issue is intended to cover the state of antifungal research, comprising new compounds with antifungal activity. We welcome reviews and original research articles covering the development/evaluation/validation of recent studies, especially those regarding multidrug resistance.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry and Molecular Biology) / CiteScore
- Q1 (Organic Chemistry)
