

Special Issue

Musculoskeletal Development and Skeletal Pathophysiologies 2.0

Message from the Guest Editor

We are excited to announce a Special Issue of the Journal of International Molecular Sciences that focuses on Musculoskeletal Development and Skeletal Pathophysiologies. Musculoskeletal problems are one of the leading reasons for physician visits each year. As such, diseases such as osteoporosis and osteoarthritis impart a major social and economic burden and are associated with significant morbidity and mortality. This burden will grow as the population ages, unless treatment modalities are expanded; thus, new knowledge is needed to provide a better understanding of musculoskeletal generation and degeneration, and to identify new therapeutic approaches. We are seeking submissions of original research articles as well as manuscripts that review a relevant field of research.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.
