

Special Issue

New Perspectives of Colloids for Biological Applications, 2nd Edition

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue of the International Journal of Molecular Sciences is dedicated to recent advances in the research of colloids and colloid-based systems, focused on highlighting new engaging investigations and novel perspectives conducted in leading laboratories around the world. Our journal is an attractive, open access publishing platform that publishes research on molecular chemistry research data. The field of colloid systems is still developing but a very promising scientific area with many practical applications, especially in biological prospects. This Special Issue will focus on all aspects of the production, modification, investigation, and application of colloids and colloid-based systems, as well as the use of highly specialized methods in order to develop the science and, above all, to improve health and the quality of life.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.
