

Special Issue

Neuropathological Advances in Brain Disorders from MNS2023

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue, to be published in IJMS, will comprise some of the best papers presented at the most recent Mediterranean Conference of Neuroscience, held in Dubrovnik, Croatia, in 2022. The Mediterranean Neuroscience Society Meetings provide a forum to discuss modern experimental and interdisciplinary approaches that have led to important novel insights into the pathogenesis and treatment of human central and peripheral nervous system diseases, and to explore new avenues for understanding the brain. This SI will showcase the latest developments in the research in this field, conducted by MNS researchers.
