Advances in Molecular Research and Novel Diagnostic Technics of Hematological Malignancies

Message from the Guest Editor

The Special Issue follows the publication of the first edition of "Hematological Malignancies", which presented eight high-quality papers. The new Issue of International Journal of Molecular Sciences, "Advances in Molecular Research and Novel Diagnostic Technics of Hematological Malignancies", is offering views of the progress of molecular science on two fronts under the overarching scope of hematological malignancies for children and adults.

We are looking forward to receiving high-quality original research articles and reviews paving the road to improved understanding and treatment of these diseases. Authors are encouraged to elaborate on their subject of predilection and expertise to share recent advances in hematological malignancies. We are looking forward to exploring this new era in hematology.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, and molecular biophysics. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.
