State-of-the-Art Molecular Plant Biology Research in Spain

Message from the Guest Editors

We are happy to announce the IJMS Special Issue entitled "Plant Molecular Biology Research in Spain". This Special Issue aims to provide a comprehensive overview of recent advances in plant molecular science in Spain by inviting contributions from Spanish research institutes/laboratories that consolidate our understanding of this area.

In addition, it aims to showcase the quality of the research carried out on different aspects of plant biology with different species. In this Special Issue, we welcome submissions in the form of comprehensive reviews or original contributions, in various different areas related to the biological knowledge of plants from a molecular point of view, including classic physiology, genetics, plant–microbe interactions, developmental biology, biochemistry, cell biology and the most recent systems biology, and biotechnology, based on classic biochemical and the more recent -omics approaches, putting together wet and in silico techniques.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, and molecular biophysics. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.
