

Special Issue

Molecular Breeding for Abiotic Stress Tolerance in Crops

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue attempts to cover all issues relating to studies of plant response to abiotic stresses including physiology, biochemistry, cell biology and molecular biology aspects, as well as literature reviews of subjects related to this field. The paper could be addressed on the experimental, theoretical, and computational methodologies used in molecular breeding across the different plant species including crops and their wild relatives.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.
