

Special Issue

Responsible Factors for Neuromorphogenesis in the Brain

Message from the Guest Editor

The Special Issue will publish original articles on molecules responsible for controlling the morphology of neurons as well as review articles on the responsible proteins that have been implicated in the regulation of neuronal morphogenesis. We seek articles that focus not only on molecules in development but also on molecules regulating neuronal morphology in the adult brain in any model systems, including fish, flies, worms, and mammals. It is also encouraging to submit articles regarding regulatory molecules implicated in disease-related processes, such as axon regeneration.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.
