

Special Issue

Recent Advances in Self-Assembled Materials with Programmable Functions

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue welcomes the submission of original research papers or comprehensive reviews reporting the self-assembly of novel nanostructures or materials with programmable functionality. Papers related to significant advances in self-assembly not only in material fabrication but also as regards the functionalities, with potential applications to sensors or electronic devices, ect., are also encouraged.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, and molecular biophysics. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry and Molecular Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (Organic Chemistry)
