TRPM Channels

Message from the Guest Editors

TRPM channels are widely studied in the sensory system, in various immune cells, as well as in epithelial barriers, but they are virtually expressed by every cell-types of the human body. Intense research of the past two decades advanced a lot in their understanding and in the last years we gained a deeper insight into their molecular structure. However, in spite of our rapidly growing knowledge, there are still several mysteries in this intriguing group of ion channels. This Special Issue provides a forum for summarizing our current knowledge and presenting selected chapters of actual research targeting any aspect of these exciting members of TRP channels.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry and Molecular Biology) / CiteScore
- Q1 (Organic Chemistry)
