Rheumatoid Arthritis: Molecular Mechanisms and Immunotherapy

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue aims to provide a platform for the latest research clarifying the molecular and immune mechanisms underlying pathological events related to the clinical presentation and different treatment outcomes of RA. Understanding the individual variations in RA pathogenesis at the molecular level will considerably improve patient management and outcomes. Original articles and reviews revealing the inflammatory pathways, the variations in molecular mechanisms in RA pathogenesis and potential new immune-based therapy that targets specific molecular pathways involved in RA inflammation are welcome.
