Molecular Diagnosis and Latest Treatment for Gastric Cancer

Message from the Guest Editor

Led by and assisted by our Topical Advisory Panel Member Dr. Pia Pužar Dominkuš (University of Ljubljana), this Special Issue aims to provide a stage for novel research and new advances for gastric cancer. A thorough exploration into the molecular background of gastric cancer and an understanding of how genetic and epigenetic alterations interact with lifestyle and other factors should facilitate the development of new non-invasive diagnostic methods, uncover new druggable molecular targets or pathways, and help to minimize the risk of developing the disease.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, and molecular biophysics. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.
