Metabolic Reprogramming in Health and Disease

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue of the International Journal of Molecular Sciences, “Metabolic Reprogramming in Health and Disease”, will focus on the broad impact of metabolism in cellular function, and how modern concepts of metabolism can inform our understanding of common diseases, including cancer, obesity, diabetes and neurodegenerative disorders, and considers the prospects of developing new metabolic approaches to disease treatment. Authors are invited to contribute a full original research paper or review article for peer-review and publication. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- metabolic reprogramming
- cancer metabolism
- metabolic enzymes
- energy metabolism
- cell signaling
- metabolomics

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.
