Exploring Emergent Phenomena in Molecules or Nanostructures

Message from the Guest Editor

In this Special Issue, we aim to collect innovative ideas and emergent methodologies utilizing molecular structures, nanostructures, or synergistic interactions to create functional molecular or nano-systems, such as emergent sciences, or enabling new technologies, smart-responsive systems, or molecular probes to illustrate biological functions. We welcome both original research articles and mini or full reviews in these exciting and rapidly evolving fields.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry and Molecular Biology) / CiteScore
- Q1 (Organic Chemistry)
