A New Paradigm for Chaperone Proteins in Health and Disease

Message from the Guest Editor

For our Special Issue, entitled "A New Paradigm for Chaperone Proteins in Health and Disease", we invite original research and review articles on topics related to new findings regarding the roles of chaperone proteins in all areas of biomedicine. We especially encourage the submission of reports on new cellular or animal models, as well as studies demonstrating the therapeutic potential of chaperones as molecular targets in the treatment of human diseases.

- Hsp60
- Hsp10
- mitochondrial chaperonins
- immune-regulatory

Please feel free to contact me or Vera Cao(vera.cao@mdpi.com) if you are interested in contributing papers to this special issue.

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.
