Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue will collect extended versions of selected papers presented at the 7th International Conference on Intelligent Information Technology (ICIIT 2022).

The ICIIT conference series has been held annually to provide an interactive forum for researchers from academia, industry, or government worldwide to present and discuss cutting-edge technology related to information on intelligence and applications. For ICIIT 2022, we would like to make the conference more diverse by including advances in information technology and more related topics. Authors of invited papers should be aware that the final submitted manuscript must provide a minimum of 50% new content and not exceed 30% copy/paste from the proceedings paper.
