Natural Language Processing and Applications: Challenges and Perspectives

Message from the Collection Editor

Special Issue "Natural Language Processing and Applications: Challenges and Perspectives" has been OPEN! The 2nd International Conference on Natural Language Processing and Applications (NLPA 2021) will be held in Copenhagen, Denmark, from 24 to 25 April 2021. NLPA 2021 will provide an excellent international forum for sharing knowledge and results concerning the theory, methodology, and applications of natural language computing. This Special Issue intends to contain a selection of the best papers presented at NLPA 2021, carefully revised and extended. Paper acceptance for NLPA 2021 will be based on quality, relevance to the conference theme, and originality. The authors of a number of selected full papers of high quality will be invited after the conference to submit revised and extended versions of their originally accepted conference papers to this Special Issue of Information, published by MDPI in open access.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The concept of Information is to disseminate scientific results achieved via experiments and theoretical results in depth. It is very important to enable researchers and practitioners to learn new technology and findings that enable development in the applied field.

Information is an online open access journal of information science and technology, data, knowledge and communication. It publishes reviews, regular research papers and short communications. We invite high quality work, and our review and publication processing is very efficient.
