

Special Issue

Editorial Board Members' Collection Series: "Information Processes", 2nd Edition

Message from the Guest Editors

Information publishes cutting-edge original research on methods or applications on a range of areas including, but not limited to, advertising, business, engineering, health, information science, IT marketing, and social computing. Specifically, there are four types of manuscripts that the Editorial Board Members' Collection Series is interested in:

- The intersection of computing, engineering, and information science;
- The application of new methods at the intersection of computer, engineering, and information science;
- The critical and in-depth intersection of computer, engineering, and information science, providing information on integrating prior research and recommendations for further work in this multidisciplinary area;
- Systems design research involving the intersection of computer, engineering, and information science.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The concept of Information is to disseminate scientific results achieved via experiments and theoretical results in depth. It is very important to enable researchers and practitioners to learn new technology and findings that enable development in the applied field.

Information is an online open access journal of information science and technology, data, knowledge and communication. It publishes reviews, regular research papers and short communications. We invite high quality work, and our review and publication processing is very efficient.

Editor-in-Chief
