

Special Issue

Novel Battery Technologies Beyond Lithium-Ion Batteries

Message from the Guest Editors

To promote the advancement of novel battery technologies beyond LIB technologies, we are pleased to announce a Special Issue entitled “Novel Battery Technologies Beyond Lithium-Ion Batteries” for Inorganics. This Special Issue mainly features the latest developments in this research field, covering advancements in SIBs, PIBs, ZIBs, DIBs, Li-S batteries, solid-state batteries, etc.

Keywords:

- sodium-ion battery
- potassium-ion battery
- zinc-ion battery
- dual-ion battery
- Li-S battery
- solid-state battery
- electrode/electrolyte design

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Inorganic chemistry remains a lynchpin of modern chemistry, not only embracing the function and reactivity of combinations of most elements of the periodic table, but also providing a footing for studies of materials, catalysts, drugs, fuels and industrial chemicals. Arguably, the role and reach of inorganics in society have never been as great as today. Adventurous research at the heart and at the extremes of inorganic chemistry is vital to further advances and Inorganics offers authors the opportunity to publish exciting new research in an open access format.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Chemistry, Inorganic and Nuclear) / CiteScore - Q2 (Inorganic Chemistry)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 16.6 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.5 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
