Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

The area of prenatal diagnosis and therapy and the field of maternofetal medicine are rapidly evolving. With the advent of new imaging modalities, sophisticated laboratory methodology and fetal treatment options, knowledge and parental counselling has to keep up with it. In this Special Issue, we aim to provide an overview of what the latest achievements in the field are. The spectrum of topics ranges from fetal diagnosis and therapy of abnormalities to genetic testing modalities and maternofetal medicine.
