

Special Issue

Cardiovascular Medicine and Cardiac Surgery

Message from the Guest Editors

It is a great honor for me to participate in this Special Issue of the prestigious journal Bioengineering, focusing on modern medical and surgical treatments of cardiovascular diseases. The topic of the Special Issue is focused not only on the concepts of pathophysiology and regenerative medical engineering for the treatment of post-infarction ischemic cardiomyopathy, but also on the modern surgical treatments of the various pathologies of cardiac surgical interest. The different typologies of the manuscripts proposed by authors could be centered both on prospective data and on retrospective observational studies, with both intraoperative and long-term results. The long-term results will be useful for evaluating the real importance to date of the surgical treatment of the various pathologies examined, such as valulopathies, aortopathies, and ischemic heart disease.
