

Special Issue

Advances in Minimally Invasive and Endoscopic Neurosurgery

Message from the Guest Editor

We are pleased to invite you to contribute to this Special Issue, “Advances in Minimally Invasive and Endoscopic Neurosurgery”, which will showcase the latest clinical and technical research on minimally invasive and endoscopic approaches, promoting knowledge sharing and contributing to the standardization of future neurosurgical procedures. This Special Issue will include original studies, as well as reviews that cover recent progress and challenges in the field. Submissions addressing both transcranial and endoscopic skull base approaches are particularly welcome. Topics of interest include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Endoscopic endonasal surgery;
- Small craniotomy and keyhole approaches;
- Endoscopic transorbital surgery;
- Minimally invasive skull base surgery;
- Reconstruction and CSF leak prevention techniques;
- Management of complications and clinical outcomes;
- Development of new instruments and visualization systems;
- Robotic and navigation-assisted neurosurgery.

For this Special Issue, original research articles and reviews are welcome. We look forward to receiving your contributions.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

There has been an explosion of gene and target based research and therapeutics in the multitude of fields that compose clinical medicine. The Journal of Clinical Medicine's (JCM) staff and editorial board are dedicated to providing cutting edge, timely, and peer-reviewed articles covering the diverse subspecialties of clinical medicine. The journal publishes concise, innovative, and exciting research articles as well as clinically significant articles and reviews that are pertinent to the myriad of disciplines within medicine. The articles published are relevant to both primary care physicians and specialists. The journal's full-texts are archived in PubMed Central and indexed in PubMed. Please consider submitting your manuscripts for publication to our journal and check us out on-line!
