Latest Advances and Clinical Applications of Endoscopic Technology

Message from the Guest Editors

New technologies and devices are proposed every day in the field of diagnostic and therapeutic digestive endoscopy. In the former, artificial intelligence software and HD instruments provide increasingly accurate and real-time diagnosis. In the therapeutic approach, innovative techniques and devices are introduced to obtain the best therapeutic response by reducing the limitations and risks of the usual procedures. Innovation must always be aimed at ensuring better clinical outcomes. Therefore, we are proposing a Special Issue entitled "Latest Advances and Clinical Applications of Endoscopic Technology" dedicated to the most recent research on endoscopic technology. It is our pleasure to invite you to contribute this Special Issue with original contributions, systematic reviews and pilot studies on endoscopic technology and the most recent advances in endoscopy, such as in diagnostic upper and lower gastrointestinal endoscopy, endoscopic resection of neoplastic lesions, diagnostic and therapeutic endoscopic ultrasound (EUS), cholangioscopy and endoscopic retrograde cholangio-pancreatography (ERCP). We look forward to receiving your contributions.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

There has been an explosion of gene and target based research and therapeutics in the multitude of fields that compose clinical medicine. The Journal of Clinical Medicine's (JCM) staff and editorial board are dedicated to providing cutting edge, timely, and peer-reviewed articles covering the diverse subspecialties of clinical medicine. The journal publishes concise, innovative, and exciting research articles as well as clinically significant articles and reviews that are pertinent to the myriad of disciplines within medicine. The articles published are relevant to both primary care physicians and specialists. The journal's full-texts are archived in PubMed Central and indexed in PubMed. Please consider submitting your manuscripts for publication to our journal and check us out on-line!
