Heart Disease and Chronic Inflammatory Conditions: New Insights

Message from the Guest Editors

We are delighted to invite scholars and researchers to contribute to a Special Issue of the Journal of Clinical Medicine (JCM) titled “Heart Disease and Chronic Inflammatory Conditions: New Insights”. This issue seeks to explore the multifaceted relationship between cardiovascular diseases and chronic inflammatory states. Chronic inflammatory conditions, including rheumatoid arthritis, psoriasis, and inflammatory bowel disease, are recognized as significant risk factors for the development and progression of heart diseases. Among other mechanisms, the underlying inflammatory processes contribute to endothelial dysfunction, atherosclerosis, and other cardiovascular pathologies. Understanding these connections not only enhances our knowledge of disease mechanisms but also opens the venue for innovative therapeutic strategies and preventative measures. We encourage submissions of original research articles and reviews that provide new insights into the pathophysiological links, diagnostic advancements, and novel treatments at the intersection of heart disease and chronic inflammation.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Journal of Clinical Medicine (ISSN 2077-0383) is an international, peer-reviewed, open access journal dedicated to advancing clinical and preclinical research. Our Editorial Board and staff are committed to delivering cutting-edge, timely, peer-reviewed articles spanning the diverse subspecialties of clinical medicine. The journal publishes concise, innovative, and impactful research articles, as well as reviews that are clinically significant and relevant to the full spectrum of medical disciplines. All full texts are archived in PubMed Central and indexed in SCIE (Web of Science), Scopus, PubMed, and other major databases. We invite you to submit your manuscript for publication, as well as join our community as a reviewer or reader online.
