Multiple Sclerosis and Demyelinating Disorders: Past, Present, and Future—2nd Edition

Message from the Guest Editors

It is our pleasure to invite you to contribute to the new volume of “Multiple Sclerosis and Demyelinating Disorders: Past, Present, and Future—2nd Edition”, following the success of the first Special Issue on this topic, collecting eight papers which can be found at: https://www.mdpi.com/journal/jcm/special\_issues/6MO72GM8F0. Recent advances in diagnostic procedures and therapeutic interventions in multiple sclerosis have substantially improved disease management and outcomes. During the last decade, the diagnostic criteria have been refined, allowing an earlier diagnosis, while preclinical conditions such as the radiologically isolated syndrome have been extensively studied. This Special Issue of the Journal of Clinical Medicine seeks commentaries, original research, short reports, and reviews focusing on advances in the research, diagnosis, monitoring, and treatment of multiple sclerosis and other demyelinating disorders such as neuromyelitis optica and MOG-associated diseases. We look forward to your contributions.
