Targeted Diagnosis and Treatment of Coronary Artery Disease: 2nd Edition

Message from the Guest Editor

It is my pleasure to invite you to contribute to this Special Issue, "Targeted Diagnosis and Treatment of Coronary Artery Disease: 2nd Edition". This is a new volume proceeding the eight papers we published in the first volume (for more details, please visit: https://www.mdpi.com/journal/jcm/special_issues/NSS7142D33). This Special Issue aims to provide an overview of the latest discoveries and new findings, analyses of previously published data, and new opinions and perspectives on the targeted diagnosis and treatment in coronary artery disease. Research areas of interest include (but are not limited to) the following:

myocardial circulation and pathophysiologic changes during ischemia and after revascularization; percutaneous coronary intervention, with an emphasis on emerging techniques and technologies; coronary artery bypass graft, with an emphasis on functional-based revascularization or total arterial revascularization; intravascular ultrasound (IVUS); fractional flow reserve (FFR); instantaneous wave-free ratio (iFR); and angiogenesis following percutaneous or surgical revascularization.
