Maxillo-Facial Surgery: New Insights and Technologies in Head and Neck

Message from the Guest Editor

The recent technological progress achieved in the head and neck field has been remarkable. This Special Issue will focus on the cutting-edge innovations that are transforming the field of oral and maxillo-facial surgery.

- Augmented Reality (AR): AR offers the real-time visualization and overlay of anatomical structures during surgery, enhancing the surgeon's spatial understanding and accuracy.
- Virtual Surgical Planning (VSP): VSP allows surgeons to pre-plan complex procedures using 3D models derived from patient-specific imaging data.
- Patient-Specific Implants (PSIs): The development of PSIs, created through 3D printing and customized to fit the patient's anatomy, has revolutionized reconstructive surgery.

Together, these innovations are redefining the landscape of oral and maxillo-facial surgery by improving precision, customization, and patient-specific care. This Special Issue will explore how these advancements are shaping the future of surgical practice and their potential to further enhance patient outcomes.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

There has been an explosion of gene and target based research and therapeutics in the multitude of fields that compose clinical medicine. The Journal of Clinical Medicine's (JCM) staff and editorial board are dedicated to providing cutting edge, timely, and peer-reviewed articles covering the diverse subspecialties of clinical medicine. The journal publishes concise, innovative, and exciting research articles as well as clinically significant articles and reviews that are pertinent to the myriad of disciplines within medicine. The articles published are relevant to both primary care physicians and specialists. The journal's full-texts are archived in PubMed Central and indexed in PubMed. Please consider submitting your manuscripts for publication to our journal and check us out on-line!
