

Special Issue

Embodied Technology for Enhanced Clinical Applications: Emerging Topics and Future Challenges

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aims to explore the present and future of the field, including emerging topics and discussions of the clinical potential of embodied technology. We are interested in clinical trials, original research articles, opinions, perspective articles, and systematic reviews assessing the potential of embodied technology in a given field. TOPICS

- Topics of interest include but are not limited to the following applications of XR technologies:
- Enhanced clinical applications for space and memory perception.
- Inner-body approaches for application in healthy and clinical populations.
- Embodied simulations/stimulations.
- XR for clinical and well-being applications.
- XR-based bio-neurofeedback training.
- Human-computer symbiosis.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

There has been an explosion of gene and target based research and therapeutics in the multitude of fields that compose clinical medicine. The Journal of Clinical Medicine's (JCM) staff and editorial board are dedicated to providing cutting edge, timely, and peer-reviewed articles covering the diverse subspecialties of clinical medicine. The journal publishes concise, innovative, and exciting research articles as well as clinically significant articles and reviews that are pertinent to the myriad of disciplines within medicine. The articles published are relevant to both primary care physicians and specialists. The journal's full-texts are archived in PubMed Central and indexed in PubMed. Please consider submitting your manuscripts for publication to our journal and check us out on-line!
