

Special Issue

Surgical Treatment for Lung Cancer—2nd Edition

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue is the second edition of “Surgical Treatment for Lung Cancer”

(https://www.mdpi.com/journal/jcm/special_issues/OCI9E8DS6I) and is being launched following the success of the first edition, which included five high-quality articles. This Special Issue will cover a broad spectrum of topics, including, but not limited to, surgical techniques, perioperative care, and multimodality treatment. We will discuss minimally invasive surgery (video- and robotic-assisted thoracic surgery), the role, limitations, and technical advancements of segmental resections, and surgical treatment in advanced lung cancer. Additionally, we will focus on the role of Enhanced Recovery After Surgery (ERAS) protocols in preventing postoperative complications and the integration of immunotherapy with surgery to improve lung cancer treatment results. We encourage submissions that provide insights into overcoming core problems. We invite researchers and clinicians to contribute their work that reflects the current state of the art and paves the way for future innovations in lung cancer surgery.
