Management of Myocardial and Pericardial Diseases under COVID-19 Pandemic

Message from the Guest Editors

In the last two years, coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) caused by severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus 2 (SARS-CoV-2) has rapidly become the leading health concern worldwide. At the very beginning of the COVID-19 pandemic, it was immediately apparent that pre-existing cardiovascular diseases increase individuals' susceptibility to SARS-CoV-2 infection and their risk of adverse outcomes due to an imbalance in ACE/ACE2 levels. Furthermore, COVID-19 itself induces cardiovascular complications, including myocardial infarction, heart failure, arrhythmia, and myocarditis. The close relationship between SARS-CoV-2 and cardiovascular diseases raises a number of clinical questions concerning the optimal management of high-risk patients. For example, interactions between antiviral medications and other drugs could negatively affect the cardiovascular system; therefore, the interruption or compliance of chronic drug therapy, such as ACE/ARB[...]

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

There has been an explosion of gene and target based research and therapeutics in the multitude of fields that compose clinical medicine. The Journal of Clinical Medicine's (JCM) staff and editorial board are dedicated to providing cutting edge, timely, and peer-reviewed articles covering the diverse subspecialties of clinical medicine. The journal publishes concise, innovative, and exciting research articles as well as clinically significant articles and reviews that are pertinent to the myriad of disciplines within medicine. The articles published are relevant to both primary care physicians and specialists. The journal's full-texts are archived in PubMed Central and indexed in PubMed. Please consider submitting your manuscripts for publication to our journal and check us out on-line!
